

Race and Class in America –
How do we evaluate the success of the Civil Rights movement?

Source: United States Census Bureau

A. Use the information in the graphs above to complete the chart below.

|                                      | Black, 1957 | White, 1957 | Black, 2002 | White, 2002 |
|--------------------------------------|-------------|-------------|-------------|-------------|
| % people 25 & over completed HS      |             |             |             |             |
| % people 25-29 completed HS          |             |             |             |             |
| % people 25 & over completed college |             |             |             |             |
| % people 25-29 completed college     |             |             |             |             |

B. Use the information in the chart above to write a paragraph comparing educational levels of Blacks and Whites in the United states in 1957 and how conditions between 1957 and 2002.

C. Use the information from your paragraph and your knowledge of American history and society to answer the question - “Should the African American Civil Rights movement of the 1950s and 1960s be considered a success?”