

PHILOSOPHY, THEORY, AND PRACTICE IN BIOLOGY

a peer-reviewed, open-access journal produced by philosophers and biologists

PTPBio, replacing Philosophy & Theory in Biology in January 2017, aims to publish work from both philosophers of science and theoretically-inclined biologists, and to encourage interactions across disciplinary boundaries. PTPBio seeks a broader scope, higher volume, and wider indexing than P&TB, which it incorporates. We hope to foster novel and diverse approaches to reflecting on biology's theory and methods.

- ◆ accessible to readers worldwide without cost
- ◆ no author-fees
- ◆ authors retain copyrights
- ◆ Creative Commons licensed
- ◆ selective acceptance-rate
- ◆ prompt review and production
- ◆ submit Markdown, LaTeX, or Word
- ◆ permanent, stable, online platform
- ◆ published by Univ. of Michigan Library (also home to Philosophers' Imprint and Ergo)

Editors: Christopher Eliot (exec. ed.), Roberta Millstein, Joanna Masel, Jonathan Kaplan Editorial Board: Alex Badyaev, John Beatty, Carol Cleland, Deborah Gordon, Paul Griffiths, Eva Jablonka, David Jablonski, Elisabeth Lloyd, Alan Love, Jay Odenbaugh, Samir Okasha, Massimo Pigliucci, Anya Plutynski, Sean Rice, Joan Roughgarden, Elliott Sober, Mike Wade, Andreas Wagner, Günter Wagner, Mary Jane West-Eberhard

PTPBio.org | @PTPBio