Citizens United v. Federal Election Commission: A step forward or a step backward for freedom and democracy?

Monday February 22, 2010
Noon to 2 p.m. Room 308

In January, the Supreme Court held that key aspects of Congress's McCain-Feingold campaign finance reform law violated the First Amendment. This ruling opens the door to greater corporate and labor union involvement in the American political process. Come join us for a panel discussion on this important decision, featuring Hofstra's own experts in Constitutional Law, Election Law, and Corporate Law.
